

USATF Certified Course Status: NOT CERTIFIED!

This means that we have not yet found evidence that a road course has been properly measured, or it appears that the certification has expired and the course not yet re-measured. All good road races will have a valid certified course.

What is course certification? It is the official assurance that the race route has been measured professionally and adjusted as needed to be no shorter than the nominal distance.

Why is this important? Serious runners will avoid racing over an unmeasured course as finish times will be almost meaningless. The USATF and World Athletics can not ratify any records set on a course that has not been properly measured prior to the running of the race. Personal bests for a specific distance also can not be meaningfully claimed on a casually measured course and finish times can not be meaningfully compared between different un-certified courses.

You can learn more about USATF Course Certification here:
<https://www.usatf.org/resources/course-certification>

You may inquire about our course measurement services here:
RaceMeasure@BuffaloRunners.com